Michael Barry Assumes La Porte Education Foundation Presidency
Andrew Connolly, Randy Clements Join Board of Directors

Michael Barry has been named president of the La Porte Education Foundation in place of Robert L. Barger who recently took a job transfer with his employer that made it necessary for him to relocate out of the La Porte community.

Prior to assuming the LPEF board presidency, Barry was the LPEF president elect and vice president of career awareness. Currently, Barry also is the vice president of operations for Gulf Coast Educators Federal Credit Union.

LPEF also recently welcomed two new board of directors members. Randy Clements is the unit manager for crop protection chemicals at the DuPont – La Porte Site and Andrew Connolly is the La Porte plant manager for Air Products & Chemicals Inc.

The La Porte Education Foundation is a non-profit organization that enhances education by funding innovative and creative instructional projects for students and teachers in the La Porte Independent School District.
